

Clemson

Col. Duncan Wilkie Rabey Jr. (Ret.), 79, of 203 Tamassee Drive, died July 26, 2002, at the Medical Center in Columbus, Ga.

He was a native of Savannah, Ga., son of the late Duncan W. and Mary Webb Gooding Rabey. He was a 33-year veteran of the U.S. Air Force, and served as Pilot, Range Safety Officer during the Gemini and Apollo space programs at Cape Canaveral, as Commanding Officer of Clemson University ROTC, and was also employed by the College of Engineering. He was an elder at Fort Hill Presbyterian Church, and was a member of the Rotary Club since 1972.

Survivors are his wife, Evelyn Paty Rabey, of the home; sons, Duncan W. Rabey II of DeBary Fla., Dr. Roger Rabey and wife Dolores, of Huntington, W.Va., and Stephen Rabey of Charlotte, N.C.; sisters Betty Rabey Cole of Palo Alto, Calif., and Dorothy Rabey Brantley of Greensboro, N.C.; and six grandchildren.

Memorial services will be held today, July 30, at 11 a.m., at Fort Hill Presbyterian Church of Clemson. In lieu of flowers memorials may be made to Upstate Alzheimer's Association, 521 N. McDuffie St. Anderson, SC 29621; or Fort Hill Church Memorial Fund, 399 College Ave., Clemson, SC 29631. — Duckett-Robinson Funeral Home.

Published in The Greenville News: 07-30-2002